

Thousands of Civilians Fleeing

Indians Near East Pakistan Capital

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indian troops vaulted the last river barrier to Dacca today, establishing a bridgehead on the Meghna 36 miles northeast of the provincial capital, an Indian spokesman reported.

The spokesman declared "no major obstruction" now lies in the path of the Indian army to Dacca. New dispatches from Dacca reported before communications were cut off that thousands of civilians were fleeing.

The bridgehead was established unopposed on the west bank at Asnuganj. Indian troops crossed the river—three miles wide at that point—by river steamer and helicopter, said the spokesman, Col. B. P. Rikhye in Calcutta.

People in Dacca apparently were fearful of heavy casualties if the Pakistani army makes a stand there. About 30,000 Pakistani troops are in the Dacca area and Indian warplanes are pounding them.

India also reported fighting with Pakistani troops all along the western front in Kashmir and to the south.

Meanwhile, at the United Nations, Pakistan officially accepted the General Assembly's call for a cease-fire and a mutual troop withdrawal in the Indo-Pakistani War Thursday. India rejected it.

United Nations diplomats said today the war issue may be transferred back to the Security Council, regardless of the Assembly's adoption of the cease-fire resolution Tuesday night, because of the 15-nation Council's powers or enforcement. The Assembly can only recommend.

The diplomats said that if the Indian army was able to capture the East Pakistani capital of Dacca by the weekend, which was reported to be its aim, the Soviet Union would join in voting for a cease-fire resolution in the Council where it previously vetoed two similar measures.

The Soviet vetoes were regarded by some diplomats as a holding action by Moscow to allow India to make territorial gains in East Pakistan in the undeclared war launched a week ago.

Israel requests United Nations reject African resolution. Story on page 26.

If true, the tactic would be similar to delaying action by the United States during the 1967 Middle East War when a cease-fire resolution was not adopted by the Council until after Israeli forces had reached the east bank of the Suez Canal.

There were no reports on military action from Pakistan since the government radio declared Thursday night that "Indian invasion forces have been blunted on all fronts in East Pakistan and they have been dealt heavy punishment."

An Indian government spokesman in New Delhi said there was no new major action in the Chhamb sector in southwestern Kashmir, the area of greatest Pakistani penetration, but probing attacks by troops meeting no resistance.

on both sides are taking place all along the border" in Punjab and Rajasthan states.

He also reported an Indian naval task force bombarded a 300-mile stretch of West Pakistani coastline Thursday night from Gwadar to Karachi, sinking four warships and destroying the huge oil complex at Karachi.

"We now effectively control the sea off Karachi," he declared. The spokesman said the Indian warships met little resistance and had no losses.

In East Pakistan, India claimed her troops were advancing swiftly toward Dacca, with some forward elements within 25 miles of the capital.

A dispatch from Dacca said thousands of residents were fleeing the city, taking what possessions they could in handcarts. The dispatch also reported that India continued strafing attacks on the city's airfield and military headquarters Thursday, but India said its planes stayed clear of the city for four hours today to permit evacuation of foreigners.

India claimed Pakistani air forces at Dacca had been wiped out and that her planes were "but probing attacks by troops meeting no resistance."

Pakistani Army Seen in Hopeless Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pakistani army is in a hopeless situation in East Pakistan and cannot hold out much longer than a few days with the long-run outlook no better in the West, according to U.S. government specialists.

State Department experts also say there is no chance of the Pakistani forces, which numbered 70,000 at the outset of the war, pulling off a Dunkirk-like evacuation in the East.

They pointed out that Indian forces, said to include 12 divisions, already hold one East Pakistani port and have the main harbor at Chittagong under a tight naval blockade. Further, the Pakistani air force in the East is destroyed and a sea evacuation would be impossible without effective air cover.

Indian air superiority also rules out any chance for an air evacuation, particularly since the main airport at Dacca has been severely damaged.

The situation in the West is no more promising, at least in the long run, the U.S. experts say, although the Pakistanis are in a position to force a more extended war and even carry out limited offenses into India.

An obvious difference between the two war theaters is that the outnumbered and out-gunned Pakistani army in the East is more than a thousand miles from its supply bases and is operating in a hostile territory.

The main body of the 365,000-man Pakistani army is in the West, and although the Indians are capable of numerical superiority in that area, Pakistan can provide the logistic and supply support to maintain a fighting ability.

But the American officials said the Indians hold all the options and even if they suffer a major defeat here and there the final outcome in the West depends almost entirely on the New Delhi government's intentions.

The U.S. experts declined to speculate on India's ultimate goals but they said the possibilities include a drive into Pakistan proper to destroy the Pakistani military structure, followed by a dictated peace.

Another possibility would include capture and occupation of the major Pakistani cities and provinces with a resulting dismemberment of the nation as it now exists.

A more limited objective could be merely to force Pakistan out of the long-disputed Kashmir territory.

Nixon Expected to Sign Into Law $15.8 Billion Tax Cut Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to President Nixon on a bill cutting taxes for businesses and individuals by $15.8 billion over three years. He is expected to sign it quickly.

Sponsors say they believe President will want to move as soon as possible to approve the stimulative effects the measure is designed to have on the nation's economy.

The Senate passed the compromise version of the legislation 71-6 Thursday, soon after the House cleared it 320 to 74.

One of the first effects of the measure, assuming it becomes law, will be refunds averaging $200 to some 3 million to 4 million buyers of new cars in the last four months. The 7-per-cent excise tax on autos is repealed retroactive to Aug. 16.

House grapples with retroactive payment question and President Nixon rejects anti-poverty bill. Stories on Page 5.

All taxpayers should obtain somewhat larger refunds or owe slightly smaller final payments when they file their 1971 returns because of the increase in the 1971 personal exemption from $650 to $675.

The bill boosts the exemption to $750 in 1972. This will bring some cuts in withholding for millions of taxpayers after next Jan. 15.

But many taxpayers in high-income brackets will find they have more deducted from their checks each week even though their tax liability has been reduced.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. voted in favor of the measure "with strong feeling that it is needed to spur the economy."

Calling it a total attack to increase employment, he said it will also cut the rate of inflation by one-half.

The tax-relief bill at a glance.

Personal Tax Cuts: $650 personal tax exemption for taxpayers and each dependent to $675 for 1971 income, and to $750 for 1972 income. Low income taxpayer could earn $2,050 without paying tax for 1972 income. For 1971 income, level would be $1,775. Standard deduction for those not itemizing expenses would go from 13 per cent of taxable income (up to maximum deduction of $1,500) for 1971 income to 15 per cent (with $2,000 maximum) in 1972.

Excise Taxes: Repeals 7 per cent auto excise tax retroactive to Aug. 15, 1971, and the 10 per cent light truck excise tax retroactive to Sept. 22, 1971.

Disc: Allows companies to set up Domestic International Sales Corporations (DISCs) to ship overseas U.S. goods and permits DISCs to defer taxes on half the DISC's income.

Day Care: Allows working families up to $400 a month deduction for household services by a domestic if there is a child under 15, or disabled dependent or spouse in the home. The family or individual income must be under $18,000, however.

Debrosky Wants Meeting To Reduce County Budget

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Calling for "a taxpayer's revolt," County Legislator Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 7), will petition members of the county legislature to call a meeting Monday night to amend and lower the recently passed $29 million 1972 budget.

Debrosky told The Freeman the legislators "have not done their homework" on the budget, that the county should not carry a $2 million surplus each year (20 per cent of the amount of taxes raised) and that at least $250,000 more can be shaved from the budget.

In spite of the 18-11 vote that approved the budget last Monday, the Legislature can amend it according to law, Debrosky said. He told of having asked Chairman of the Board Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) to call an executive meeting to discuss the budget further, and said Savago declined.

Debrosky, who said he has to date, the support of at least three other members of the board, added he is asking taxpayers to revolt and call their legislators and urge them to attend the meeting.

The Rosendale lawmaker said he needs only a majority (17 of 33) of the legislators' signatures to call a meeting of the board.

Concerned because "the complete legislature spent less than five hours on the budget, and the finance committee less than 30 hours with most of the time spent interviewing department heads," Debrosky also pointed out that the public hearing lasted less than three hours.

With regard to surplus cash, he contends that more than $2.1 million was left over in 1970 and more than $2 million in 1971. "I can't see carrying over 20 per cent of the budget every year," Debrosky said. "We don't need it. He suggested that very little surplus be carried and, 'if we do need more money, we can raise it.'"

Debrosky also quarrels with the amount of sales tax revenue anticipated in the 1972 budget which is listed as $2.7 million.

"In 1971, as of Dec. 1, we have already collected $2.8 million," he explained, adding that he was told by the county treasurer that about $400,000 more will be forthcoming this year for a total of $3.2 million.

Debrosky also feels that in view of the Legislature's having passed a resolution July 8 freezing hiring and promotions, the inclusion of more than 60 new positions at $400,000 in the 1972 budget is unfair to the taxpayer. He points out also that the new

Tax Hike Possible For '72 ... Koenig

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Taxes, which have been reduced in the City of Kingston for the past four years, may be going up in 1972, Mayor Francis R. Koenig told The Freeman today.

"It looks like 1972 will be the year of reckoning," Koenig said. Koenig met with his department heads on Thursday and will be releasing proposed budget figures on a department by department basis early next week.

There are a number of factors, but the chief one at this point seems to be the $6.38 tax increase per thousand dollars of assessed valuation approved by the county on Monday night. An increase of $6.38 means that the city will have to come up with another $255,000, based on $40,000 per thousand, to cover it. "I don't see how you can possibly offset the county tax increase," Koenig said today.

Koenig established limits on spending increases in ordering his department heads to submit requests by Dec. 1. Salary increases, for instance, are limited to the five and one half per cent set by the Presidential Wage and Price Commission.

The police and fire departments have settled for that figure but it means another $52,000 in the 1972 budget.

Revenues have generally leveled off — the state sales tax had been budgeted at $1.1 million for the past two years — but state revenues are expected to be decreased owing to the present fiscal crisis of the state. Last year, the state cut the city by almost $400,000.

Koenig says he has no firm line on what the state will be giving to the city in 1972 but is hoping for at least as much as he got this year.

"This is going to be one of the toughest budgets ever in the City of Kingston," Koenig said. A public hearing on that budget is expected on either Dec. 28 or 29 at city hall.

Cases Unrelated, Say Police

Two Are Murdered in Poughkeepsie

By WALTER S. CLARK

POUGHKEEPSIE — Dutchess County authorities and Poughkeepsie detectives today pursued investigations seeking to establish motives involved in two unrelated homicides that were brought to attention of police on Thursday. One of the victims was a 34-year-old woman who authorities said was strangled to death by her common law husband. The man is now in custody. The other murder victim was a former Albany resident who has been residing in the Poughkeepsie area for about a month. He was shot to death by an unidentified masked man, according to police officials. Deputy Chief Jack Brophy said the woman has been identified as Isetta Bowman of 168 North Clinton Street on the north side of this city. Brophy said the accused murderer, Ben Smith, 34, walked into police headquarters at about 8:30 a.m. Thursday and told Detective Francis (Pete) Doerr he had killed his wife.

Doerr, Brophy and Detective Lieutenant Robert Berberich were directed by Smith to the North Clinton Street residence where the defendant pointed to a bed in a room of the first floor apartment. Police pulled the bed to one side and saw the Bowman woman sprawled on the floor dead.

Police said an autopsy performed at St. Francis' Hospital indicated the woman had died sometime late Wednesday and her body apparently had been pushed under the bed and left there until yesterday morning. Brophy reported Smith allegedly strangled the woman to death with his hands during a quarrel.

Smith was charged with murder and at arraignment before City Judge Edward Filipowicz, he was committed to jail without bail.

District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt of Dutchess County and his staff of assistants directed the investigation which is being continued today by the detective division.

Brophy identified the victim of the other murder case as James Presley, 21, formerly of 57 Livingston Avenue, Albany.

His killer was still at large this morning and police were trying to tie loose ends in the investigation together in an effort to establish the identity of the much-sought man and to determine a motive for the homicide.

According to Brophy, Presley had been staying at an apartment at 106 Catherine Street in this city's north side for about one month.

Police said Presley was in his home shortly before 7:30 p.m. Thursday when someone kicked open a door leading to the apartment and fired a shot that hit the victim in the head.

Although authorities were not releasing full details of the shooting death, they did disclose they had learned from some unexplained source that the man with the gun wore a woman's stocking that was pulled down over his head evidently to hide his identity.

Neighbors called police and reported a shooting had occurred at the mid-city apartment house at about 7:22 p.m. Police hurried to the scene and found Presley with wounds of the head. He apparently had been hit in the mouth by the shot.

Authorities questioned several residents of the area seeking information they hoped would lead to an arrest. This morning police investigators said at that time they had no definite leads in the case. They did say that a revolver had been used in the slaying. The weapon was not recovered.

Presley's body was taken to St. Francis' Hospital where a post mortem was scheduled.

Bell Sees Relief for Motorists

ALBANY — Innocent victims have never set foot in New York City. Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) said today relief may be on the way for hundreds of upstate motorists who have been harassed by erroneous and threatening notices of parking violations from New York City when, in fact, most of these are causing undue hardship for registered owner. A clerk with innocent motorists. Most of a ball point pen can cause an innocent citizen a lot of trouble if license plate numbers are not written correctly. He has suggested that including the make and color of the ticketed vehicle as well would enable the PVB to eliminate many of the numerous errors resulting from incorrect transmittal of the license number.

Ulster Man Nabbed On Bogus Bill Charge

NORWICH — A 38-year-old Ulster County man was in the Chenango County jail today without bail awaiting action of the grand jury on charges involving the criminal possession of a stack of counterfeit $10 bills, some of which have been circulated in upstate cities during the last several days.

State Police officials at Sidney said a stack of phony bills in denominations of $10 totaling $870 were confiscated with the arrest of the accused man.

Troopers at Troop C headquarters in Sidney said Peter "Joe" Suski, whose address was given as 74 Cedar Street, Kingston, was taken into custody Thursday in the Binghamton area by an alert state trooper who was participating in a search upstate for a suspect whose description had been dashed over the state police radio network.

Suski was arraigned in a local court on a specific charge of criminal possession of forged instruments — counterfeit bills. The defendant was committed to the Chenango County jail without bail pending action by the upstate grand jury.

State Police reported that when Suski was searched he allegedly had in his possession 83 of the phony bills.

It was reported that several complaints had been made to police by merchants in Binghamton, Wurtsboro and Liberty regarding the $10 phony bills that had been received at their business places and later turned up in bank deposits. Radio and teletype alarms were sent out with descriptions of a suspect that tallied with that of the Kingston man, authorities noted.

Trooper C. E. McKilligan spotted Suski in a car and he stopped him for questioning. The arrest followed and investigation was continued by state police Bureau of Criminal Investigation agents.

Police reported Suski's arrest to the U.S. Treasury Department and agents from that unit from the Syracuse office entered the investigation, troopers said.

One official said that it is suspected that the Kingston area is "the base" for alleged operations involving counterfeit money.

Rhinebeck Case Is Ready

RHINEBECK

Rhinebeck Highway Superintendent George Wyant's case has been made ready for trial in County Court. Wyant has been accused of manslaughter in the shooting death of his wife in April, 1970.

Wyant was reelected to his post this November for a two-year term. He is 44 and a resident of Albany Post Road, Rhinebeck. He was indicted on a charge of second-degree manslaughter, pleaded innocent, and was released on $5,000 bail.

Wyant was arrested April 5, 1970 and charged with shooting his wife, Virginia, 41, with a .22 caliber revolver in their mobile home.

The Grand Jury report alleged that Wyant had "recklessly caused the death of his wife." He has continued his duties as highway superintendent, and is being defended by Rhinebeck attorney Robert F. Winne.

House Grappling With Question

Retroactive Payment Big Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is grappling with the question of whether to order retroactive payment of pay increases caught in the 90-day freeze.

The retroactive-pay issue dominated opening debate Thursday on legislation to extend President Nixon's economic control authority through April 30, 1973, and authorize the Banking Committee, the bill would require retroactive payment of frozen increases unless they were found to be unreasonably inconsistent with general wage levels.

Rep. Joseph G. Minish, D-N.J., author of the committee provision, argued that authorizing some retroactive payments and forbidding others would establish a double standard which Congress cannot condone.

"This provision clears the air and puts an end to conflicting and ambiguous rulings," Minish said.

But Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House Republican conference, said that, "if we allow for retroactivity in all cases, it would undo the effect of the freeze. It would create a ripple effect that would have a devastating effect on the economy."

The House gave up hope of completing work on a bill which must go to conference with a similar but not identical measure passed by the Senate in time for the final product to be sent to President Nixon this week.

Among issues to be settled is a Senate provision canceling President Nixon's six-month postponement of a federal pay raise originally scheduled for Jan. 1.

Another provision in the Senate bill, but not the House version, would exempt newspapers and other news media, broadcasters, magazine and book publishers from price and wage controls.

Antipoverty Bill Vetoed . . . Revival Chances Slim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $2.1 billion plan to provide government care for poor children — a proposal killed by President Nixon's veto — has very little chance of being revived by Congress any time soon.

The President vetoed the legislation Thursday evening, citing its "family weakening implications" and its fiscal irresponsibility. Conservatives had attacked the proposal as a Communist-style attempt to put child rearing under government control.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who voted against the measure in the House, said the President's veto came as no surprise.

He said he hoped another early child development system that is sound and workable can be devised but that the system proposed is not the proper vehicle.

Fish said the measure was unworkable because many states develop comprehensive plans in this area which should be coordinated with the federal government, because it defines the prime sponsor as the community which, he said lacks needed resources and because Congress would have little control over the administration's regulatory offices.

There was little chance that any immediate attempt would be made to override Nixon's veto. Such a move would face tough going in the Senate, where the override would have to start, and would be almost this scale in raising the nation's certainly doomed in the House, children," Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler attempt until next year but the said after the veto. He claimed odds were likely to be little the bill could wind up costing taxpayers $20 billion a year if

The child care plan was part the child care provision were of a $6 billion authorization to fully funded.

The child care proposal would continue the Office of Economic Opportunity's antipoverty programs for another two years. After the veto Nixon urged Congress to re-pass the bill without designating the funds for specific programs such as child care.

"The American people have not in any way indicated a consensus desire for the federal government to get involved on

State Conservatives Unhappy With Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — The state Conservative party, unhappy with the performance of the Nixon administration, says it has suspended its support of the President in a bid to move him toward their positions.

Because of the White House posture on the United Nations and China, as well as the administration's economic programs, endorsement of Nixon for reelection in 1972 remains an "open question," state party Chairman J. Daniel Mahoney said.

The Conservatives, who campaigned for the President in 1968, could decide to join Mahoney, publisher-columnist William F. Buckley and other prominent conservatives encouraging Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, to run against Nixon in the upcoming presidential primaries, according to party leaders.

However, Mahoney said the group also could wind up supporting no one for the White House in 1972. He explained that any Democrat probably would be unacceptable to the party and said he would join with other party leaders in discouraging any endorsement of Gov. George Wallace, D-Ala., if he decides to run for president.

Buckley's brother, Sen. James L. Buckley, R-C.N.Y., declined to join the Conservatives' swing away from one of disappointment.

The move to suspend support of Nixon was designed to "maximize our influence on the course of events," according to Mahoney.

In a unanimous resolution of its state executive committee Wednesday night, the Conservatives outlined their disenchantment with the administration.

"The nation's deteriorating defense posture threatens the very foundations of our foreign policy. The detente with Red China, and especially the shameful expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations, must dishearten all Americans with a realistic appreciation of power realities in Asia and throughout the world," Mahoney said.

Mahoney claimed Nixon's "erstwhile Conservative supporters" are "bewildered" by his deficit budget financing and advocacy of welfare reforms proposed by former presidential aide Daniel P. Moynihan.

"And Conservatives who are dismayed by the presidential economic program of 1971 are, of course, attacking it with the presidential rhetoric of 1970," Mahoney continued.

Noting its approval of some aspects of Nixon's administration, particularly his appointments to the U.S. Supreme Court, the committee maintained that its overall reaction declined to join the Con-

Extortion Charged To Mobil Oil Trio

NEW YORK (AP) — Men hired by Mobil Oil Co. to keep the company's delivery trucks rolling during a drivers' strike, organized crime were arrested on indictments charging conspiracy and extortion.

They were Lazzaro Sangiovanni, 43, of Queens; Modesto Santoro, 58, of Brooklyn and Carmine "Tutti" Franzese, 40, of Queens, brother of underworld figure John "Sonny" Franzese.

The three were held in $10,000 bail each after pleading innocent to a two-count indictment in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

They were then taken to Brooklyn, where the state added a charge of larceny by means of extortion and charged Sangiovanni also with forgery news conference, adding there was no evidence of wrongdoing documents for truck drivers.

Building Moratorium Imposed by Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay, warning that the city's borrowing capacity is nearly exhausted, has imposed a three-month moratorium on the awarding of new capital construction contracts totaling $570 million.

Lindsay said Thursday the moratorium probably would involve eliminating completely about $300 million in construction projects, with the remaining $270 million to be deferred until this spring or later.

The mayor's move came as the City Planning Commission proposed a record high $2.3 billion capital budget for 1972-73.

Lindsay told the commission: "Only the most urgent and residents slated for relocation.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 10, 1971

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is anxious to prevent the Indian-Pakistani conflict from developing into a big-power confrontation between Russia and China. The Soviets, who have a mutual-assistance pact with India, have warned other countries to keep out of the conflict. The President takes the warning quite seriously. Yet intelligence reports claim that the Chinese are rushing military supplies to Pakistan over the world's highest highway, an all-weather truck route across the Pamir Plateau. Some Soviet strategists are known to be itching for an excuse to launch a preemptive strike at China's nuclear centers. The President is fearful that Chinese aid to Pakistan might give them their excuse.

China now has nuclear warheads but not enough missiles to deliver them. The Chinese, however, have tested a missile with sufficient range to reach Moscow. Once the Chinese are able to install enough missiles to hit Russia's major targets, China will possess a nuclear deterrent against Russia.

There is reported to be growing sentiment inside the Kremlin in favor of eliminating this threat before it develops. In a matter of hours, a lightning Soviet raid could reduce China to a non-nuclear power. Meanwhile, a chilling nuclear drama has been developing on the remote

China-Russia border. The Soviets have moved ground and air forces into position for a swift strike at China's nuclear works. Soviet missiles have also been deployed against China. The Indian-Pakistani war contains the tinder that could touch off this nuclear action. And even a limited nuclear outbreak, the President fears, could cause a military chain reaction.

Endangered Cities — A federal study of "Our Most Endangered People" describes in grim detail what pollution is doing to nearly eight million poor who are crowded into our big cities.

The shocking study, prepared by the Environmental Protection Agency which is holding it under wraps, charges that 4.5 million ghetto whites and 3.1 million ghetto blacks are assailed by street noises, gutter garbage, chimney soot, wormy water and pesticides.

These foul plagues have stricken the city people, alleges that report, with everything from cancer and heart disease to nervous disorders and sexual impotency.

Although more whites than blacks live under ghetto conditions, the study's focus is more often on the blacks who live closer to starvation. Poor urban blacks, for example, have three times as many heart ailments as middle-class whites. Black women also run four times more risk of dying in childbirth.

Solid Wastes — "Such diseases as rat bite fever, leptospirosis, salmonellosis and murine typhus fever are spread by rats and insects which breed in solid wastes." Racial bitterness also feeds on the street garbage just as surely as do disease germs, states the study.

Air Pollution — Ghetto dwellers breathe in 50 times more lead and four times more harmful chemical particles than do rural residents. The danger is greatest along freeways and at city intersections where idling cars pump leaded death into young lungs. The report estimates 400,000 ghetto children have high lead content in their blood. With grim humor, the study quotes cynics who say city air pollution chases people to the suburbs where they must use cars more often, therefore "the automobile industry has a positive incentive to design cars that pollute city air."

Noise and Sex — Street Noise — High city noise levels may lead to heart attacks, sexual impotency, suicidal depression, insomnia and headaches. The constant city clamor is also suspect in a normally early sexual maturity and birth malformations. Trucks, motorcycles, freeways and subways make many ghettos noisier than federal standards would allow in a boiler factory. "The idea that people become adapted to noise is a myth," adds the report.

Pesticides — The study finds that pesticides enter human tissue through breathing, cuts in the skin and even healthy skin. Undernourished children also lick pesticides off the window sills. Warns the study: "Autopsied tissues from persons succumbing to chronic diseases suggests a relationship between . . . pesticide concentrations . . . (and) liver cirrhosis, carcinoma and hypertension." In their battle against roaches, flies, rats and even scorpions, the poor believe "if a little (pesticide) is good, a lot is better." The study gives this example: "While profusely spraying a room, a (ghetto) mother began feeling dizzy. She stopped. Her reaction was that the stuff must be good and, with enthusiastic determination, began spraying again."

Foul Waters — "Waters surrounding our major cities are littered with dead fish, garbage, wood, metals, detergents, suds, oils, plastic and rubber goods, cans and dead plant life," declares the report. "Worms and bad taste make some urban water unfit for domestic use. Organisms such as thin red blood worms which generally indicate polluted water . . . have occurred in municipal drinking water in at least 17 scattered municipal systems, including New York City and Washington." This water pollution brings typhoid, kidney disease, mercury poisoning and a baby ailment called methemoglobinemia which leads to suffocation.

India's Recalcitrance

WASHINGTON — The administration has been revealing frankly and comprehensively to newsmen and to members of committees of Congress dealing with foreign relations what has been happening since last March between Pakistan and India and the quiet efforts of the United States to prevent a war.

The time is not yet opportune for public disclosure of all the details, but it is evident that the United States has been earnestly trying to persuade India to enter into negotiations with Pakistan to adjust their differences. Spokesmen for the administration indicate clearly that progress could have been made by this process because Pakistan was willing to reach a settlement.

It is unfortunate perhaps that officials are not ready as yet to discuss publicly the extensive contacts which they have had with the Indian government during the last several months, but without success.

They could point, for instance, to how the American people have contributed 10 billion dollars to the progress and development of India. There is, therefore, sadness and disappointment as differences with India have arisen.

Going back to March 25, when the Central government of Pakistan decided to establish military rule in East Bengal, the United States, according to high officials, never supported this action, which has led to the tragic series of events that followed. Efforts have been made from the beginning by America to help ease the suffering of the refugees who poured from East Pakistan into India. Approximately 90 million dollars was given by Washington for the support of the refugees in India, and 155 million dollars to avert famine in East Pakistan. This was more than came from all the rest of the world.

President Nixon has asked Congress for a 250 million dollar appropriation to continue such aid. Thus, the American total will be approximately 500 million dollars for the relief of refugees. Foreseeing the troubles ahead, officials of the government of the United States last March urged that the political issue which was causing the problem be tackled and that concessions be made. They have continued this effort for several months. The Secretary of State saw the Indian ambassador at least 18 times, and various aides in the government met with him on other occasions. All of them told the Indian representative that political autonomy for East Bengal was an inevitable political evolution, but India wanted an immediate capitulation by West Pakistan to the demands of the rebels.

Appeals were made to the Indian Prime Minister and to the President of Pakistan as well as a plea to the Soviet Union to use its influence. Last week, however, the situation burst into a war, and this prompted some officials here to emphasize the efforts that had been made to bring about a peaceful settlement.

The United States believes that military action was not necessary to get a settlement and that what began as a tragedy in East Bengal has become an attempt to dismember a sovereign state and a member of the United Nations. The State Department hopes to participate in negotiations which will bring an end to the war, and this is one reason why there is a reluctance on the part of officials here to be quoted in criticism of India's failure to heed the calls for a peaceful solution.

At present, all eyes are focused on the United Nations, and the hope is that the General Assembly's resolution calling for a ceasefire will prod India to move in the direction of an armistice. The White House spoke of the passage of the resolution as "solid evidence that the majority of world opinion supports the position" the U.N. has taken against the use of military force.

The real decision as to whether any attention will be paid to the U.N. resolution will probably be made in Moscow. For India now depends not on aid from the United States but on money and supplies from Russia. If the Soviets are willing to sponsor the war in Asia and openly support a policy of military aggression, the whole international situation may change and the Soviet Union will become the center of world criticism. The Moscow government, of course, is betting on a quick Indian victory. In fact, there are some experts who think that India can administer a decisive military defeat to Pakistan within a few weeks.

Pollution Controls

The recent invoking for the first time of the Federal Clean Air Act of 1970 caused some uneasy stirrings throughout the nation.

A federal judge took the unprecedented action in Birmingham, Ala., ordering the closing or drastic production cut at 23 factories which he said had so contributed to pollution as to pose a definite threat to human life.

This was no easy decision to make.

Removed from the scene, as we are here in Kingston, we might not be inclined to give the report a second thought. But think about it for a moment.

With a stroke of the pen, or however a court order is issued, the judge put a temporary halt to the poisoning of the air over Birmingham. At the same time, he put a halt to production essential to the economy of the firms individually and to the city as a whole. He also put 25,000 people out of work.

This is the dilemma posed by our industrial age. No one can argue the desirability and the need for clean air, clean water and a clean landscape. Wouldn't it be wonderful to see the once-crystal clear Hudson River restored to its original state, to see fish cavorting as the stream meanders down to the ocean? And wouldn't it be good to see smokestacks pointing to the sky but minus the black smoke that still belches occasionally into Kingston's atmosphere?

But always the question has to be asked—at what price? To keep offending plants closed is in the nature of radical surgery which might eliminate an ailment but which also could kill the patient.

Actually, the solution lies in "voluntary" cooperation. We put quotation marks around the word because in some instances cooperation has been somewhat less than voluntary.

The action by the Alabama judge certainly will serve to remind management of industrial plants throughout the nation that delays in effecting pollution-reducing changes will not be countenanced. As a matter of fact, U.S. Steel which employs 12,500 persons at its Birmingham plant and which was one of the industries closed, told the court it already had taken steps to reduce emissions from its steel-making operations.

Apparently, it hadn't taken enough steps. Now it will.

The United States is not the only nation where pollution is a serious problem. The smog over Tokyo is thicker even than that in Los Angeles, at its worst.

But it's interesting to note the different approach employed in Japan. It has strict environmental control laws and augmenting them is the traditional Japanese philosophy.

On the walls of many office buildings are illustrated signs which say, in four languages, "Have Respect for the Flowers."

Whether through respect for the flowers or respect for law, most of us aren't particularly concerned how pollution reduction is achieved, so long as it is, and we all can agree that voluntary compliance is best.

Black Lib Flags

The Newark Board of Education, on November 30, passed a resolution calling for black liberation flags to be displayed in all Newark classrooms where black children outnumber whites. They are now flying equally with the Stars and Stripes. The colors are red, black and green. The red symbolizes black blood shed by whites; the black stands for power; the green represents Africa.

One of the white members of the board, John Vervase, has filed a suit against the board to force it to rescind the resolution. Cervase calls the black flags illegal according to state law which prohibits the flying of any other than the U.S. flag in classrooms; and avers that it is racist. The 17-year-old board member who introduced the Resolution says the flag gives black children a sense of pride, and that they wanted it very much.

Next, the minorities will want their ethnic flags; and religions will want to fly their own symbols in the classrooms. Woe and more woe.

No matter how much one wants to make little schoolboys and girls happy, it is easy to see that the youngsters have been persuaded by outsiders to something which will cause racial strife, bloodshed, and many other troubles. Those soft persuaders who got them to ask for this flag are trying to set up a black state within these United States, and then to claim land and buildings as an ethnic enclave.

The move should not be tolerated here, both for the good of the blacks and for all others. Are we "one nation, under God, indivisible?" Or aren't we? Our minds and our lives must be firmly committed or we will be shattered.

BERRY'S WORLD

"If there's going to be war with Israel again, I say let's fight NOW and be done with it. I've got to go to Europe on business next week!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

December Is a Mixed-Up Month

This is the month which cannot make up its mind. It is too cold; unseasonably warm; it is addicted to sleet, which is neither rain nor snow; three weeks of it is autumn, one week is winter; some hills are russet, others are blindingly white.

It is the time of the plumed breath, the shortest day, the longest night of the year. The lawn mower moves to the back of the garage; the snow shovel is placed up front. Skid chains rap out a cha-cha on old trucks; flower beds shiver naked in cold winds.

The living room thermostat cannot make up its mind; this gives the oil burner a nervous breakdown. The forests lose the pungent odor of pine needles and brooks gurgle clear and cold behind thin panes of ice. The gray squirrel retires from work to live off buried treasure; sparrows blink on bare limbs, wondering where everybody went.

The sea savage; the waves have football shoulders and crash in thunder for one more first down. The storm winds will go up next week for sure. On clear nights, flirtatious stars come closer to wink outrageously.

The drudgery of shopping commences. On a given day, a child will be born and an old man with whiskers and a ho-ho-ho will die ignominiously. This is the month of the crowded parking lot, the scraped fender, bruised feelings; a time to glut the mail with greeting cards whose sentiments are unread, but whose signatures are carefully observed.

December is the end of a long year if you are young, a fleeting one if you are old. It is the time when the sun moves south to the Tropic of Capricorn; or to be more precise, the earth tilts and the blazing ball tracks Sao Paulo, Brazil, Rockhampton, Australia, and an undistinguished town called Nosy-Varika, Madagascar.

For us, dinner and breakfast are eaten in darkness. Jack Frost crochets a lacy antimacassar in the corners of windows. On farms, the field mice have set up light housekeeping in the barns; seed corn hangs red from rafters; corn shodds fashion tepees for ghostly Indians. Trout fracture the surface of smooth lakes leaping for dragonflies long gone.

Fireplace logs snap and complain at being licked to death by long blue and orange flames. An old lady, withered in her own December, drops a piece of orange skin on a stove lid and the kitchen becomes a garden of perfume. Little feet run hard; so do little noses.

It is the month of the countdown, a time when newspapers tell us how few the days are. The bad girl gets furs from a man; the good girl gets a scarf from a girl friend. Seventy million trees will move indoors as lights are moved outdoors. Turkeys can't buy insurance.

The winds whistle while they work, sweeping up the debris of Autumn. The optimist leaves cookies and hot chocolate for Santa; the pessimist places a wreath on an old grave. Parents wonder what they will give; little ones wonder what they will get.

Youthful energy is at its highest racing downhill on crusty snow; at its lowest trudging to the corner store for a pound of cranberries. Autumn, clad in russet and flame, is shoved offstage by Winter, swathed to the chin in ermine.

The clear days are clearer; the vault of the sky pales off to a powder blue; the bronze sunset feels the face of clouds with pink fingers. Factories and schools reach a peak of productivity; wisps of smoke emerge from tall chimneys and teachers' ears. F all, it is the time of the test.

The rich aluminum birds migrate to Florida. A rain-spout has an icicle hanging from its nose. Even a garbage can sports a cocky beret. A train whistle at night is a lonely cry. The bedroom is warm; the sheets are cold. Feet disengage themselves from the rest of the body.

Millions of people will hate Scrooge once more, and forgive him, too.

Television will tell us where the weather is worse. All over the world men will praise God in a hundred languages and a hundred kinds of churches and temples, each claiming Him for their own.

December is the month of many disguises. I study it coldly, knowing that somewhere far off, the verdant virgin of Spring is tiptoeing toward me. . . .

IRS Employees to Check Stores

ALBANY Internal Revenue Service field employees from the Albany District will check retail stores in this area on Monday and Tuesday, with an eye out for possible violators of the Economic Stabilization Program and the current price freeze.

Any violators will be advised in writing on the spot, said an IRS official, and they will be requested to comply with established regulations within five days. Non-compliers will be subject to penalties.

Among the rules that merchants are required to follow include:

• Starting Nov. 14 retailers were required to "prominently display" at least one sign on each floor or in each department announcing the availability of base price information. Stores with less than $100,000 in yearly sales are considered a "single department," and are required to post price ceiling rates only on their 40 most popular items, or items which make up half their total sales.

• There must be at least one location on each floor where consumers can obtain forms to request base price information. The retailer must respond to each written request for base period price information within 48 hours by informing the consumer in writing of the base price on the article or articles in question.

• On or before Jan. 1, 1972, all retailers will be required to prominently display at the place of sale, base prices for all food products and the store's 40 most popular items.

• Retailers must continue the procedure of posting a sign announcing the availability of base price information even after they have posted the base prices of those products required.

Additional details may be obtained by contacting the IRS in Poughkeepsie or Albany.

Judge Utters Wrong Word, Man Gains New Trial

ROCHESTER (AP)—Because of one word uttered by a judge, a man convicted twice of first degree assault Thursday won a new trial on the charge.

Dennis Butty, 27, of Buffalo, charged with attacking an elevator operator with a knife and cleaver, had pleaded insanity at each of his two earlier trials. Both trials ended with Butty being convicted and sentenced to a maximum prison term of 10 years.

In reviewing Butty's second trial, the Appellate Division found that State Supreme Court Justice Charles J. Gaughan used the wrong conjunction when he charged the jurors.

According to the court record, the appellate panel said, Gaughan had told the jurors that to convict Butty as a sane person the state "must prove that defendant knew or appreciated the nature and consequences of his conduct and that it was wrong."

The division said Gaughan should have used the word "and" instead of "or."

Because Gaughan's instructions were not in strict accordance with the state's penal law, the court said it would "reluctantly" grant a third trial. He also maintained that the terms "know" and "appreciate" were sufficiently clarified by the judge.

Police said the man was booked after his car hit a parking meter.

Authorities also reported Pedro Ferrer, 45, of 16 Tuttle Avenue, this village, was cited for operating a car without financial security and unlicensed operation. The charges were filed by Patrolman Krom.

Ferrer posted $100 bail and hearing was adjourned to Jan. 4.

Debrosky ...

positions do not include those for the new infirmary, community college and highway department.

Still another area of concern to Debrosky is a surplus of $400,000 in the highway department. He explained that the Legislature passed a resolution in October transferring $400,000 from one road account to another which he claims has $150,000 in the 1972 budget.

"This $400,000 does not show in the budget and should be used to reduce taxes in a tax-lean year," he said.

He also points out that the highway department payroll went from $700,000 to $950,000 an increase of $250,000 or more than 35 per cent.

"The present salary contract between the county and the highway department called for only a seven per cent increase," Debrosky said, asking, "is the remainder in benefits? or what?"

With regard to new hiring, he mentioned nearby Dutchess County, "which is not hiring anyone and not replacing."

Concluding, he suggested that about $250,000 could be cut from the budget and that he will personally petition the legislators for their signatures over the weekend. According to law, he needs only 48 hours notice to call the meeting.

Larceny Case Dismissed Against Bakery Salesman

KINGSTON
A charge of grand larceny second degree lodged against Ronald Cole, 26-year-old truck driver, of 179 Elmendorf Street, this city, was dismissed Thursday by Special City Judge George A. Beck because an information of complaint was too vague and contained insufficient detail to constitute a crime.

Judge Beck noted that the information filed against Cole was not valid as no specific dates or amounts of money allegedly involved were noted in the complaint.

The judge gave the District Attorney's office an opportunity to file a new information with proper affidavit and specific dates, of any alleged larceny.

At the time Cole was arrested he was employed as a salesman for Spiesman's Specialty Bakery, Inc., 201 Foxhall Avenue.

In his affidavit, Harry Spiesman, vice president of the bakery firm, said alleged discrepancies were found by him on sales slips returned by Cole, who was specifically accused of the alleged theft of $1,500. Spiesman had noted in papers to police that alleged shortages could run as high as $100,000.

Cole, who was represented by Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon, had pleaded innocent to the charge and was under bail of $1,000. Assistant District Attorney Albert Hrdlicka represented District Attorney Francis J. Vogt in the case.

MOTHER-IN-LAW In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband and my father, John J. Karol, who God called home one year ago today, Dec. 11, 1970. I often think of you And then of how you died To think you could not say goodbye. Before you closed your eyes. The blow was hard The shock severe I never thought your death so near. But only those who have lost can tell The blow of parting without farewell.

RUTH and WAYNE In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Peter F. Simpson, who passed away just one long year ago today, Dec. 10, 1970. I've lost my soul's companion A life linked with my own. And day by day I miss him As I walk through life alone. A happy home we once enjoyed How sweet the memory still But death has left a loneliness The world can never fill. I think of him in silence. And often repeat his name But all that is left to answer Is his picture in a frame. Loving Wife, EVA Son, JOHN

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, which had battled profit-taking pressures in the past four sessions, opened firm today.

Advances on the New York Stock Exchange held a slight edge over declines and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally higher.

Some analysts said they expected the market to exhibit mixed tendencies today with profit taking on the one hand and selective buying on the other.

Prices on the Big Board's most-active list included Kennecott, up 1/4 at 21 3/4; McGraw-Hill, off 2 at 17; RCA, off 1/4 at 34 1/4; and Occidental Petroleum, up 1/4 at 10 1/4.

Blue-chip stocks sagged Thursday under the weight of profit-taking pressure but the market as a whole was firm.

The Dow industrial average, which had been behind nearly 5 points earlier, closed off 2.70 at 852.15. The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,300 common stocks closed unchanged at 535.55.

Big Board volume declined to 14.71 million shares from 16.65 million shares Wednesday.

New National Draft Board Regulations Go Into Effect Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the day men who have completed their military obligations under the Selective Service System get to throw their draft cards away.

Several new draft regulations were formally issued today by Selective Service officials.

One major change dropped the requirement that persons born after Aug. 30, 1922, were required to have both their draft card and their classification card in their possession at all times, regardless of their age.

Under the new rules, registrants are required to keep their cards in their possession only until the end of their liability for military service.

This is age 26 for those who never received deferments and age 35 for others.

Other major changes that took effect today:

—Undergraduate student deferments ended for those who were not eligible for deferments during the last quarter of semester of the 1970-71 regular academic year.

—A uniform national call system for issuing draft calls so that all men with the same lottery numbers will receive induction notices at approximately the same time took effect.

—A new classification, 1-H, which will be a "holding" category for those registrants not currently subject to active processing for induction became effective.

—The minimum period of 10 days notice for induction was increased to 30 days.

induction notices at approximately the same time took effect.

14 Million Children Found Without Measles Immunity

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fourteen million American children have no immunity to measles and are susceptible to the disease that has struck a number of communities around the nation, federal health officials warned today. "We want to urge any community to look at its level of vaccination and do what it can to get children vaccinated and avoid an epidemic," said a spokesman for the National Center for Disease Control (NCDC). Red measles, or rubeola, normally is a mild childhood disease, but the NCDC said it sometimes has very serious consequences, including death. Approximately 14 million children in the measles-susceptible age group of 1-10 have not been vaccinated or have not had the measles, the NCDC said, and warned that communities with low immunity levels "have the potential for measles outbreaks."

The hardest hit communities at present are Pinellas (St. Petersburg) County, Fla., Burlington, Iowa, and Lansing, Mich.

Full Employment Concept . . . More Spent Than Collected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pres. Nixon is preparing a budget at the same time he tries to spur the still a federal budget with a "full employment concept" balance. That is, another way of saying the government will spend a lot more money than it collects.

The full employment budget concept, developed as a theoretical exercise by economists in the late 1940s, enables the President to talk about balance of payments and the government's ability to live within its means. Contrast the rhetoric with the balance sheet: In the fiscal year that ended last June 30, the government spent $23.2 billion more than it took in. For the current fiscal year, the deficit is officially estimated at about $28 billion. Unless the economy picks up dramatically, the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1 will show a projected deficit that probably will top $10 billion.

A $28 billion deficit this fiscal year would be the largest since World War II. For last year, this year and next year together, the deficit would be the largest for any three-year period except for 1943-45.

Some economists believe the full employment budget is a more useful tool than the dollars and cents figures in analyzing the effect of federal spending on the economy.

In theory, it works like this: Assume the present tax system would produce about $250 billion in revenue during the forthcoming fiscal year if the economy were operating at full blast and unemployment was no more than 4 per cent. Assume also that the economy did not heat up to capacity and actual revenues totaled about $235 billion.

Under the full employment budget concept, the government could spend up to $250 billion without living much beyond its means. Spending of that magnitude would cause an actual deficit of $15 billion, but the theory is that when the economy is plagued with unemployment, some deficit-blast the budget should be spending is a useful tonic. When balanced.

Demo, Socialist Lead Italian First Ballot

ROME (AP) — Christian today in Italy's presidential election, but neither man got the two-thirds vote required for election.

The 1,008 members of the electoral college—950 members of Parliament and 58 regional delegates—were told to return to the Chamber of Deputies later today for a second ballot.

After the third ballot only a simple majority is required for election. But with three other candidates in the race, a lengthy contest was expected.

Fanani, 63 and four times premier, could count on 431 Christian Democrat electors. De Martino, 64 and the deputy premier in Emilio Colombo's center-left coalition government, could count on about 420—105 Socialists, 259 Communists and about 60 other leftists.

The electoral college is made up of the members of parliament plus regional representatives. The president's term is seven years, his pay $32,000 a year and his duties are largely ceremonial. But he designates the premier when a new government must be formed, making him a key figure in the frequent political crises that beset Italian politics.

Neither Fanani nor De Martino appeared likely to marshal the 672 votes needed to win on the first three ballots. Even obtaining a simple majority—505 votes—may require many ballots and days of trading.

The Socialists, although a member of Colombo's coalition, shunned efforts for a center-left candidate who might have won on the fourth ballot.

Service Seeking Family

RED HOOK
The Red Hook chapter of American Field service is seeking a host family for next year's exchange student.

The Service has two programs: one brings students from 60 countries to attend secondary schools for a year of study and experience in the United States; and the Americans Abroad program sends American boys and girls to countries overseas.

Mrs. David Benkart, Sawkill Road, Red Hook, terms being a host family to a foreign student a "very rewarding, enlightening, and interesting experience for every member of the family." Information may be obtained by calling the local president.

Foreign students coming to the U.S. live for a school year in selected homes as members of the families and attend local secondary schools. They have an opportunity to learn firsthand the customs, ideals, interest, and problems of American life and to share a knowledge of their own background with their American friends.

Hexachlorophene Problem Under Study

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Warnings on the use of hexachlorophene, a germ-fighting chemical issued earlier this week by the Federal Food and Drug Administration are under study by local hospitals with some modification in procedures pending the outcome.

The FDA said Monday that studies of the chemical used in a number of bathing products for babies and adults indicated that it may produce brain damage.

The products, including

PHISOHex, a brand-name product of Winthrop Drugs containing a three per cent solution of hexachlorophene, are used extensively to control cross-infection.

Dr. William Taylor, Ulster County Health Commissioner said today that no general recommendations have been forthcoming from the New York State Health Department as yet on the matter.

Kingston Hospital is continuing the use of hexachlorophene products while the reports are being reviewed by hospital personnel. Anthony

R. Triulzi, administrator, said in the use of bathing products are looking into the details of the warning.

In the FDA report Monday it was noted that a test of 50 newborn babies washed daily in hexachlorophene preparations absorbed measurable quantities of the chemical into their bloodstream without toxic symptoms.

A second test conducted by Sterling Laboratories, research unit of Winthrop Drugs, apparently sparked the FDA warning. This test used five monkeys, in an "exaggerated test" situation for 90 days. Dr. Raymond Clinton, a spokesman for Winthrop said that the test chemical but Dr. Roger Her-was "very small scale" and one of the monkeys died. Dr. Clinton said earlier this week that there were "very few reports of results were brain lesions or toxicity under conditions of vacuoles, fluid filled cells, in normal usage" over the two decades it has been on the market.

Meanwhile the State Health Department cautioned that it would be wise to avoid repeated applications of hexachlorophene. The state health department has not made studies of its own on the for Winthrop said that the test chemical but Dr. Roger Her-

HUD Team Due for Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE A HUD team will come to Ellenville Wednesday to determine whether to approve a planning contract for the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency, according to Urban Renewal Director Gerald Herman.

A couple of previous dates for the visit have fallen through, but Herman said this date was firm, barring snow.

The planning contract under consideration is between the planning firm of Raymond, Parish and Pine Inc., and the Ellenville agency.

Herman said the idea for bringing new planners into the Ellenville project arose about two years ago, and had received the active support of previous directors John Smith and Frank Walpole.

A similar previous proposal submitted to HUD was not approved because of a lack of housing in the Ellenville project area. This objection was recently eliminated by the approval by HUD of a 70-unit housing project for Ellenville.

Herman said a need for new planning and reevaluation of the Ellenville Urban Renewal Plan was necessary, particularly in the areas of parking, failure to make disposition parcels large enough to attract redevelopment, and a lack of proper land acquisition.

Herman said the present plan had left "blighted land and blighted structures" which should be included in the project, and may be by the new planners if the contract is approved.

A revision of the rehabilitation loan and grant system is also sought.

A five or six member team from HUD is expected, representing the area, planning, rehabilitation, engineering, and relocation.

If the contract is approved, it would take the planning firm about four months to complete its study, at a cost of $39,000.

The planning firm will go over the Ellenville project "parcel by parcel and block by block if it is hired," said Herman, and "provide, once and for all, a new direction for the Ellenville Urban Renewal Project."

"An effort must be made to reap the greatest benefits from the monies to be spent as well as those already spent. This will be an endeavor to give new direction to the Ellenville Urban Renewal project," said Herman.

Contract Signing Okayed by Board

TOWN OF ULSTER Town of Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino was authorized to sign contracts with Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. for lighting at the new Leggs Mills Bridge at Thursday night's town board meeting.

Street lights to be installed at the new span will be one at the south approach and three at the north end of the bridge.

Dates were set for the closing of the town books at noon, Dec. 30. The reorganization meeting will be held Jan. 11 at 11 a.m.

The town building inspector was authorized to attend a seven-week course in Poughkeepsie on the new state building code.

Police protection for the town was discussed and it was noted that the sheriff's department has increased patrols in the Town of Ulster.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of former Town Clerk Laura K. Every, who died last week.

Mrs. Joseph (Rusty) Ellis, newly-elected president, will preside over her first meeting at this session. Primary dockets on the agenda will be committee recommendations pertaining to a constitution, by-laws and other governing standards, as well as possible methods for acquiring initial club funds.

Also to be discussed are considerations for future projects. Mrs. Aline Steyer, program chairman, has arranged to have entertainment during the refreshment period following the meeting. A trio of musicians from the Senior Band will present a half-hour concert of mood music from a grouping of standards. Comprising the trio are trumpeter Joe Cushara, percussionist Scott Shultis, with Craig McCormack on the bass.

President Ellis has emphasized that any adult in the Saugerties area is welcomed to membership in the organization. The basic purpose of the Band Parents' Club is to encourage and assist in the continuation and betterment of the local school bands. Regular meetings for the club are scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 at the Saugerties High School.

Ellenville Public Library Vote Postponed Until Summer of '72

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — The vote on the proposed $740,000 bond issue for the Ellenville Public Library, tentatively scheduled for January, has been postponed until "some time before summer," according to Anthony Percoco, president of the library board.

Percoco said "in the light of the situation locally and nationally" the board considered it wiser to wait a bit before putting up the issue for another vote.

The proposal was narrowly defeated, 682 to 600 Dec. 1.

The situation which caused the board to reconsider its decision to revote the matter as soon as possible includes the proposed BOCES building project, county taxes, a possible bond issue for the Wawarsing Town Garage, and a possible school bond issue for the proposed new school.

The library board is also going to give he proposed building plan a "full review," Percoco said. This will include examining the proposed building with an eye to possible cost-saving changes, and the reduction of costs wherever possible.

The land for the proposed new library, to be named the Joseph Resnick Memorial Building, has been offered free of charge to the library by the Resnick family. The land is that now used by the Motor Museum on Canal Street for parking and is bounded by Canal, Center and Childs Streets.

The library is currently housed in the Women's Guild before the Dec. 1 vote Christian Temperance Union as "the culmination of more Building known as the Hunt than 25 years of research, in Memorial Building, on Canal vestigation and utilization of Street. Library officials say it temporary measures to is only one-fourth the size alleviate the crippling shortage needed to properly serve its patrons." The proposal will now get some more review.

FLAG PRESENTATION — All 18 newly naturalized citizens were presented with American flags at a party held in their honor Tuesday, sponsored by American Legion Post 150. Shown (L-R) are Milton C. J. Nee, Philip Faluotico, Adelina Macchione, Ralph Pitcher and Miroslav Petrusic. Faluotico and Pitcher are members of the Americanism Committee of Post 150.

Snowmobile Query ... Uproar in Woodstock

By JON POWERS

WOODSTOCK — Snowmobiles. It seems like most people either love them ... or hate them.

Such is apparently the case in Woodstock, where a controversy is simmering on whether to allow the vehicles to use certain town roads.

More than a hundred people attended a public hearing on the matter Wednesday night. Both sides aired their complaints and grievances, with the only outcome a guarantee that the debate is sure to continue.

Two of the most vocal on the question are Otto Sonnenberg, president of the Beaverkill Snowmobile Club and Attorney Arthur E. Ewig, representing a group of residents opposed to the snowmobile plan.

The Freeman spoke with both men after Wednesday's meeting, and each defended the position he has taken.

Sonnenberg explained that the snowmobile club has asked the town to approve snowmobile traffic on eight town roads. "All are connecting roads," said Sonnenberg, "and all except one are dead ends. We don't want to use them as race-tracks or trails, but just so that our members can use them to get from one place to another."

The roads in question are located in the Shady-Lake Hill, Willow area. They were selected to allow a snowmobiler to travel from, for instance, Shady to Lake Hill without crossing private lands. "It's ridiculous to expect a guy to move his snowmobile by trailer just a short distance," said Sonnenberg. "The roads would be lined with cars and trailers."

Sonnenberg admits that the snowmobiles may constitute a hazard if allowed to travel on a town road. "Sure they're dangerous, but so are cars," he said. "You just have to use a little common sense." It is his contention, also, that the snowmobiles that cause the most problem are operated by teenagers. "They'll raise the devil no matter what they're driving," he said, "but I can't see making the whole community suffer for the actions of a few."

Noise pollution emanating from snowmobiles is a complaint Sonnenberg thinks unjustifiable. "People are making a mountain out of a molehill about this noise bit," Sonnenberg charged. "Sure they make some noise, but they're being improved every year. They don't bother me."

Are snowmobiles disruptive to wildlife and their habitat? Sonnenberg thinks not and contends, in fact, that snowmobile-blazed paths have led starving deer to food.

"Snowmobiles are here to stay," he concluded. "People will have to get used to them. But they're not giving us a fair chance. All we want is a trial period, just to see what happens."

Not if Ewig and his seven clients on Silver Hollow Road have anything to say about it. The Kingston attorney is compiling an energetic case to thwart the snowmobile club's request.

"These vehicles are impossible to police," said Ewig,

"they're illegal now and they're still not being policed."

Noise pollution is of paramount concern to the anti-snowmobile forces. "They're talking about reducing the noise levels of each individual machine," said Ewig, "but they usually travel in packs anyway. The noise level of five or ten is unbearable."

Ewig is primarily concerned with Silver Hollow Road. If snowmobiles are permitted on highways, they are required to use either the inside bank, outside bank or shoulder, but not the highway itself. Ewig contends, and has photos to prove his point, that Silver Hollow Road is so narrow that there are no shoulders available, and that the banks are not suitable for snowmobile operations. That leaves the road itself, and it is Ewig's opinion that a snowmobile traveling on Silver Hollow Road would create a hazardous situation.

He also cites the ecology factor, and offers documented evidence that snowmobiles are damaging to the terrain and wildlife.

Insurance coverage, in addition to "the noise, annoyance and discourtesy," is another item cited by Ewig and his anti-snowmobile clients. "The insurance covers the owner and operator, but not the town," he said.

While the proponents may be boiling, the Town Board remains cool ... and non-committal. "Snowmobiles are here to stay, that's for sure," said Supervisor Milton Houst. "but there are so many grey areas it's easy to make a mistake. I think this calls for much more study."

Parking Lot Plans Are Being Studied

RHINEBECK

Plans are being considered by the building committee of the Starr Library to remove part of the rear of the building complex to make way for a private parking lot.

The committee will meet Monday evening to make some decision on the best method of approaching the renovation. Plans stated thus far are to lease the resulting parking lot to the Foster's Coach House Restaurant the adjacent business, with the public at large being able to use it.

According to statements made, the entrance to the new parking area would be off Route 9 where the entrance to the vacant Starr movie theater stands.

Vehicles would exit onto Garden Street. Some parking problems near Foster's now exist when a large gathering is held, as most of the cars must park along the street.

Some alternate proposals are also under consideration. A third party has offered to renovate the exterior of the theater property and use the theater as a shop.

The Starr Library has recently undergone extensive face-lifting, and it would not be affected by any plan under consideration.

Parking in the downtown Rhinebeck area is often at a premium, with the public largely dependent on several privately owned parking areas.

Michael Fichera, president of the First National Bank of Rhinebeck and chairman of the visual Environment Committee, sees a joint village-businessman approach to parking as a solution.

Dr. Pepper Sales Show 13 Pct. November Gain

DALLAS, TEX. — Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif. 1971 has been a year of accomplishment for Dr. Pepper, noted Clements. "We have laid groundwork for further acceleration of sales and marketing and believe that Dr. Pepper will continue to move ahead."

Dr. Pepper is capitalizing on its unique and distinctive flavor which makes it different from all other soft drinks. The success of its advertising approach, using the slogan "All you have to do like Dr. Pepper is to try it," has paid off for the company, according to Clements.

"With our winter promotion featuring HOT Dr. Pepper now getting under way, we are optimistic that December will close out 1971 as a banner year for Dr. Pepper," commented W. W. Clements, president and chief executive officer. "We have other things going for Dr. Pepper which will accelerate activities between now and the end of the year." He had reference to the company's sponsorship of the nationwide telecast of the Miss Teenage America Pageant on December 3 and New Year's day participation in the annual Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas and the

Matt Brewing Co.

'Maximus Super' Debuts

UTICA The F. X. Matt Brewing Company, one of the top 30 brewers in the country introduced in Eastern New York on Monday a new malt beverage which it calls "Maximus Super." It is believed to be the only product of its kind in the beer industry. A spokesman for the company said that national expansion was scheduled for early 1972.

Maximus Super is a beer which has about twice the alcoholic content of regular beer. The new drink is being introduced to meet a modern need. "Modern man lives a more sedentary life than his ancestors," F. X. Matt II, vice president of production and spokesman for F. X. Matt Brewing Company, said. "He works in an air-conditioned office. Often his home and even his car are air-conditioned. Years ago, man did more physical labor and sweated more. He needed more liquid than we do today.

"The most common complaint we hear from beer drinkers is that it fills them up too quickly," any people like pleasant effects but don't want to consume large quantities of liquid.

"We worried about this and set out to make a new beverage. In doing so we created an interesting new taste, different from beer, ale, malt liquor and with a character all its own."

The potential of the product is interesting. Matt, a third-generation executive of the family-owned brewery, said.

"It's the concentrated form," he explained. More than 1,000 adults of various age groups participated in taste research of Maximus Super. Smoothness was the most noticeable dimension. Matt said, and alcoholic content the second most-noticed dimension.

"It has a softer taste than its potency would indicate," he said.

One can of Maximus Super has nearly the same potency of two cans of regular beer. Maximus Super has received favorable response in Central and Northern New York. The brewery's new product is not a malt liquor, a product introduced by several brewers in the past few years. Malt liquor has only slightly more alcohol than regular beer and has less flavor, Matt explained.

The brewery, founded in 1888 as the West End Brewing Company, also produces Uca Club and Matt's Premium beers. Matt is one of several members of the Matt family who continue to run the brewery. He is a grandson of F. X. Matt, the brewery's founder.

G-U Officials
Guests at Meeting

LATHAM The Grocery Manufacturers Union history and the progress of the company founded by Representatives of Eastern New York met recently at the Holiday Inn in Latham, for their regularly scheduled November meeting.

Guests at the meeting were Ralph D. Lytle, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Union Company's Empire Division in Waterford; Floyd D. Rodgers, director of public relations for the company and Harry F. Kronewitz, newly appointed project director of Grand Union's Centennial Year. Both Rodgers and Kronewitz are from the company's headquarters office in East Paterson, N.J.

Charles J. Colarusso, of Borden Foods Company, President of G.M.R., introduced Lytle, who in turn, introduced all attending Grand Union personnel.

A specially prepared film, made by Charles G. Rodman, president of the Grand Union Company, introduced plans and events surrounding the Grand Union Centennial year. Rodman announced that the slogan for the observance of the Centennial Year will be "People Pleasers Since 1872."

Following Rodman's film, Rodgers, by means of a slide presentation, outlined the Grand Union history and the progress of the company founded by Cyrus D. Jones in Scranton, Pa., in 1872 — from its one-man, one-store enterprise to the 10th largest food chain in the United States with annual sale in excess of one billion dollars.

The next portion of the program was delivered by Kronewitz and he showed by means of a slide presentation, detailed plans and events for the coming year.

Rodgers and Kronewitz said that while executives of the company had been thinking seriously about the Centennial celebration for some years and have had an Anniversary Committee in being since 1968, and a detailed outline of suggested projects under review since 1970, it was in March of this year that the project really began to move. Comprehensive plans for the celebration will be revealed as of the new year — Grand Union's Centennial Year.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Vegetarian diets can be nutritionally adequate but it takes considerable know-how according to Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. The lacto-ovo types in which eggs, cheese and milk are permitted are easiest to make nutritionally sound, she says.

Contrary to current news stories the fleshless diet is not a discovery of the "new" generation. The idea of vegetarian diets is millennium old, having its roots in many ancient civilizations. Contemporary groups are drawn to vegetarian regimes for many reasons. The use of more vegetables and cereals adds variety in both taste and texture to customary food choices. Vegetarianism offers an inexpensive way to eat since the costly meat items are not included. Many people feel the vegetarian way is more healthful than the meat-vegetable type diet. Groups like the 7th Day Adventists, Trappist Monks, and Jainists adhere to vegetarianism because it is an integral part of their religious belief. One of the currently popular vegetarian diets is a macrobiotic diet advocated by the late Japanese philosopher, George Ohsawa. Although not always completely vegetarian, the macrobiotic diet features brown rice as its principal food. At times this is supplemented by small amounts of cereal, vegetable, fish, meat, dairy products or fruit. The most restricted form of this diet regime consists almost entirely of brown rice and severely restricts fluid intake. This restricted diet can be dangerous to health.

Vegetarian diets, especially the lacto-ovo types which include the use of milk, cheese and eggs, are recommended by Cornell nutritionists. The lacto-ovo types are particularly valuable because they supply high quality protein and calcium, nutrients difficult to get in sufficient quantities from a wholly seed and cereal diet.

ERNESTLY SPEAKING

SO WHAT'S NEW?

Maybe these are not exactly world-shaking events, compared to many of the state and national events that don't do too much to make us happy right now, but at least around these parts, two new things are happening at Roberto's... both intended to add a little joie de vivre to life in Ulster County, and regions adjacent thereto.

The item is our new Cocktail Hour, (starting Tuesday, Dec. 14), from 4:30 to 6:30 P. M., Tuesday through Friday. If you wonder why Cocktail Hour takes 2 hours, all I can say is that's the way the olive drops into the martini! We didn't invent the event, we're just trying to make it a bit more enjoyable.

To that end, we have the magic of Mark Garrison on the Hammond, plus slathers of canapés, tidbits, snacks, hors d'oeuvres and other accompaniments to an afternoon relaxation. Other than that, all I can promise you is a warm welcome, nice people and pleasant surroundings. If you haven't anything better to do some afternoon (and I don't know what could be better!) toodle out to Roberto's; come when you please, have what you like, leave when you're good and ready.

P. S. The drinks are good, too, at reduced prices during Cocktail Hour.

Now, about the second innovation: It's somewhat more of a wrench, as it always is to change a habit. But who am I to argue with all the people who tell me we should be open on Wednesdays? I must listen to that much hue and cry!

So, starting next week, we reverse the "closing" schedule we've had since we opened: Instead of being closed on Wednesdays, hereafter we will be closed on Mondays. This starts with next Monday, Dec. 13th; and as I've intimated, this may not seem such a big deal to some people but evidently, from the way our patrons see it, Wednesday is one of the nights they like to go out to dine... and who am I to say them nay?

HOWDY DO FOR '72?
3 more weeks to plan for New Year's Eve; a lot of folks already have their plans made, and their reservations in for our eagerly anticipated New Year's Eve Party! If you were with us last year, I don't have to tell you what a grand and glorious time everyone had. But you can read along (and recall pleasant memories) while I tell the other folks what they missed.

The mirth and melody started at 10 p. m., with dancing to Mark Garrison and his Combo. Brother John will (I hope) be back with his guitar, to join Mark and Tommy Fitzgerald, who'll be drumming his darndest. As the evening rocketed on, and by midnight everybody was in the perfect mood to say "Howdy Do, Seventy Two!" There was some time out for the lavish Steak Supper, (an epicurean feast, to say the least); and there was a great "Floor Show" put on with vim, vigor and verve by the members of the far-famed (I was thinking about saying "notorious," but changed my mind) "Roberto's Repertory Company and Saturday Solree." The dolls and guys (how's that, Women's Lib?) put on a Shivarree that lasted on and off till the wee hours... interspersed with dancing.

Everybody agreed it was a New Year's Eve Party that which there was no whither. And we're going to do it all over again on Friday, December 31st, 1971... same festive decor, same Hats! Noisemakers! Favors! Same great Dance Music, and Steak Supper, and "Floor Show"... and same sensationally sensible price... $10.00 per person, exclusive of drinks, tax and gratuities. Get your reservation in now!

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S

Winding up a few November items: The Birthday of Ruth Kieffer was celebrated in the company of Wayne Reynolds, Sharon and Paul Turck, and Kay Williams... all Kingstonian friends. I suspect it was Ruth who tongue-in-cheeked the mention of a 30th birthday. And also the comment: "Dinner and Service excellent; Paul thought the Red Snapper was great, being he's an expert!" I'm glad to have the tip from such a piscatorial expert; I think I'll try it myself, some night. *** Marking their 22nd Wedding Anniversary, Sally and Jerry Moroney, of Port Ewen, were the dinner guests of their progeny, daughter Nadine and sons John and Jerry Jr. I think I dig Jerry Sr.'s comment: "The long-haired boys said it was far out. English Translation: Everything was great... Papa Joe, too!"

Further on the Wedding Anniversary trend... there was the Thirty-Fifth milestone for Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. and L. Lake Katrine with, as is reported to me, "a very unique shirt on; everyone had to look twice; would you believe 'Foul Play?' I'll have to ask one of the guests at table just what that cryptic message means; said guests at table being Mr. and Mrs. George Brannigan, of Lake Katrine, and Milly Demski and Jack Noble, of Kingston. Interestingly: Milly Demski was Maid of Honor at the wedding! And (just as interestingly, to me) the guests of honor said: "Kathy and Duane were great; the dinner was superb, only as Roberto can do it!" November's News winds up with an expedition from Poughkeepsie, led by Joe Bechetti; to put it formally: Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown and Mrs. M. H. Close were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bechetti, at a dinner to celebrate the Birthday of Ann Close. Love those Poughkeepsie People!

MISH AND MASH

I'm sure I don't have to spell it out for you, but along with the Cocktail Hour and Dinner being shifted from Monday to Wednesday, LUNCHEON AT ROBERTO'S shifts right along with it. I really didn't need to point that out... it was only an excuse to mention the fact that Luncheon at Roberto's would be a great idea for entertaining holiday guests. There are some very fine Luncheon Specialties, from $2.00 to $2.50, complete with your rolls and butter, potato and vegetable, and Tossed Salad; maybe a few cents more than you'd pay at a less distinguished restaurant, but then, champagne costs more than cider, too.

The "Saturday Shivarree and Solree" keeps picking up steam; could be that the members of our "Stock Company" are polishing up routines for the New Year's Eve Floor Show! It seems to me that, as we get deeper into winter, the talents of our trouper get sharper. Ann and Ed Shannon, Augie, and daughter Sharon, Vi and Fran and Tony Red Amato and Frankie Rinn and Dan Callaghan and Papa Joe Amato and so many more... what would Saturday-Night-by-the-Hudson be without their singing and playing and dancing? Or without their gracious charm and great good humor?

And I don't say that simply because at Roberto's we get all that talent laid on us for no bread! They're really great human beings, having fun "doing their thing" and letting everybody else join in the fun with them. Come around and do likewise, any Saturday night from 10 to the magic hours.

Christmas Idea Exchange Scheduled in Saugerties

SAUGERTIES WOMAN'S CLUB PARTY — Exchanging Christmas decoration ideas in preparation for the Thursday, Dec. 16 meeting of Woman's Club of Saugerties are (l-r)

Mrs. Bruce Caughell and Mrs. Walter Stolte. Festivities will include a Christmas recipe exchange and an old-fashioned carol sing. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

The Dutch Arms Chapel, John Street, Saugerties, will be the scene of a festive Christmas party for members and guests of the Woman's Club of Saugerties on Thursday, Dec. 16, at 8 p.m. An exchange of Christmas decorating ideas and recipes is planned.

Club women are urged to share with other members and friends their decorating ideas by bringing a handmade Christmas decoration and directions for assembling it. Each woman is also asked to bring a favorite family Christmas food with the accompanying recipe.

Other highlights of the meeting will be the singing of Christmas carols and gathering of food and gifts for an area family. Mrs. Wayne Brunkhurst, chairman of the Community Affairs Department, requests that donations for the Christmas basket be the same as for the Thanksgiving basket. Questions concerning the gifts or the food basket may be directed to Mrs. Wayne Brunkhurst, Band Camp Road, Saugerties.

Woman's Club members are encouraged to invite friends to join them in attending the December 16th meeting to enjoy the Christmas taste treats, the decorations display, and the carol sing.

Rhinebeck Choral Club Plans Yule Concert

The Rhinebeck Choral Club will present its 27th annual Christmas Concert Friday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. at the Rhinebeck Town Hall. Once again the true spirit of Christmas unfolds after weeks of intensive rehearsals on the part of the club and under the spirited and enthusiastic direction of the Club's director, Ronald Heck. In true holiday fashion, with the stage to be decorated, and the choristers appearing in new costumes this year, the traditional tunes will be interwoven with spirituals and carols.

Included on the program will be, "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel," "Written in De Holy Book," "What You Gonna Call Yo' Pretty Little Baby," "March of The Kings," a sweet and lilting Carol-Anthem titled, "Love came down at Christmas," two charming pieces to please the little folk: "Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer," and a delightful Burgundian Carol titled, "Pat-a-Pam." A dramatic and stirring Anthem, "There Were Shepherds," sung by the 45-strong Club promises to add depth to the evenings performance. Many other selections will be presented which will include soloists and background music such as guitar, drums, and finger cymbals.

To begin the holiday season in true Christmas Spirit, the public is invited to join the Choristers for an evening of old-fashioned and warm entertainment. Tickets will be available at the door, or from any Choral Club member.

Pushy Mom Courting Disaster for Daughter

DEAR ABBY: I have a 27-year-old daughter who is no raving beauty, but she is a lot better looking than most of the girls whose pictures you see in bridal veils in the Sunday papers. She is very intelligent and has lots of dates, and I know she has turned down several good marriage proposals.

When I ask her what she is waiting for, she says, "Don't rush me, Mom."

Is there any way I can get her to hurry up and think seriously of marrying and settling down? I am 50 years old and would like to see a few grandchildren before I leave this earth.

MINNEAPOLIS MOM

DEAR MOM: Many Moms who have rushed their daughters into marriage see more of their grandchildren than they expected to. (They're raising them because the marriage didn't work out.) If you're eager to see things hatch, settle down on a chicken farm.

DEAR ABBY: My husband keeps our receipts and bills in his dresser drawer. I needed one to refer to the other day, so I asked him if I could go into his drawer and get it, and he said yes.

As I was looking thru them I came across a small piece of paper with a long distance telephone number on it, and a girl's name under it. It's no one I know, and I can't remember hearing my husband mention her name.

My husband works in a garage, so it could be one of his customers. But why would he keep just that one?

Should I ask him about it, or keep quiet? I don't know what to think or do.

HURT AND WONDERING

DEAR HURT: Ask him. It beats guessing.

DEAR ABBY: It's amazing to me how seemingly good parents will buy such dangerous toys for their children. It's bad enough that toy manufacturers are permitted to put them on the market.

There was a fair here recently where double-barreled popguns with strong springs and loose corks were sold. Every boy on our block got one—except mine.

Once the corks were lost, the children would shoot rocks at each other.

Bows and arrows with rubber tips that came off easily were also sold.

Abby, please say something about these weapons and the accidents they can cause. So many children are blind in one or both eyes because of such "toys."

I can't keep my children from playing with their friends. All I can do is tell them to look the other way when fired upon.

DEAR IRATE: You have also alerted other mothers (and children) to the danger by writing to me. Thanks!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

UCCCC Faces Mitchell College in Gym Opener

JACKIE KNOWLES

HENRY NIXON

STONE RIDGE, Ulster County Community College basketball will be played on campus for the first time in the school's history Saturday, when the Senators host Mitchell Junior College of Connecticut in their seventh game of the season.

The contest is scheduled at 2 p.m. and will be preceded by a brief dedication ceremony of the new million dollar Senate Gymnasium.

Dr. George Erbstein, the college president, will officiate at the ceremonies.

Mitchell brings an 0-3 record into the Senate Gym and Coach Mike Perry's Senators are not likely to permit the Nutmeggers to leave with their first victory of the season.

"The Mitchell record is not impressive but they can be troublesome," said Coach Perry. "However, I don't have to psyche my boys for this one."

We have been waiting a long time for our own gym and I don't think we're going to baptize it with a defeat."

The Senators move into the Senate Gym inaugural running Saturday, when they have won six straight games, defeating in order RCA Institute, Westchester, Sullivan, Leicester (Mass.), Brandywine of Delaware and Rockland with Wade Pittman and Larry Frazier of former NFA fame.

Ulster averaged 102.2 points through its first six games, the individual leader — Henry Nixon — racked up 123 points for a 20.5 average and looms as the next super star at Ulster. Linnell Marshall, the team's top rebounder has 18.5 scoring average, with Jackie Knowles (15.2), Nelson Marcelle (15.4) and Coleman Link (12.5) rounding out the top five. Pete Koolha, the former Rondout Valley Central star who has seen action, is averaging 9.4

points and may draw a starting assignment against Mitchell.

Pete Rohde, a 6-4, 195 pound Valley Stream North High graduate, is the biggest man on the Mitchell squad. Other probable starters include Bob Schlosser 6-2, Charles Ayers 6-2, Joe D'Oro 5-7 and Reggie Faulk 5-11 graduate of St. Bernard High of New London, Conn.

After the Mitchell inaugural, the Senators take on the Marist College Red Foxes, before heading into the red meat of the 1971-72 schedule with games against New York City, Dutchess, Manhattan, Suffolk and Farmingdale in that order.

Lakers Near Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers have the whole town talking ... and the other National Basketball Association teams talking to themselves.

The Lakers continued to ride high Thursday night, winning their 19th straight game with a 124-111 decision over the Golden State Warriors.

Los Angeles now is one short of the NBA record for consecutive victories and get a chance to tie the Milwaukee Bucks in tonight's contest against the Phoenix Suns.

The Suns' current eight-game winning streak has been buried in all the fuss over the amazing Laker drive—but they continued to play hot ball with a 135-115 triumph over the Atlanta Hawks Thursday night.

In the only other NBA game, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Chicago Bulls 110-107.

N. Y. Hikes NHL Lead

By United Press International

The scent of first place appears to be just a little stronger than the aroma of home cooking.

The New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, both battling for first place in their respective divisions of the National Hockey League, each came away with road victories Thursday night. New York winning at Philadelphia, 5-0, and Chicago at Buffalo, 3-1.

Gilles Villeneuve finally gave the Rangers their first shutout of the season as he turned aside 21 Philadelphia shots. In the meantime, Vic Hatfield scored two power play goals and Jean Ratelle, Ted Irvine and Bill Fairbairn countered one goal each.

Hadfield's goals give him 22 for the season, high in the league.

The victory boosted the Rangers' first place lead in the East Division to three points over both Montreal and Boston, who were idle.

Chicago climbed into a tie with Minnesota for the top spot in the West Division with its triumph at Buffalo in the only other NHL game. Stan Mikita scored two goals in the second period for the Hawks after Pit Martin had given them a 1-0 lead in the opening session.

Rookie Rick Martin spoiled Gary Smith's shutout bid with his 19th goal of the season at 2:33 of the final period.

Reject Yonkers OTB Suit

NEW YORK (UPI)—A suit by Yonkers Raceway seeking to prevent the city's Off-Track Betting Corp., from televising harness races from Monticello Raceway in Sullivan County was dismissed in State Supreme Court Thursday.

Yonkers Raceway had contended that televising harness races would result in "substantial and incalculable" losses for harness racing throughout the state.

Justice Nathaniel T. Helman turned down the suit, however, stating there was nothing in state law prohibiting OTB from entering into television contracts.

Howard J. Samuels, president of the quasi-public OTB agency, has said in the past it was his intention to televise sporting events for the entertainment of OTB bettors. He entered into the contract for nightly television broadcasts after reaching agreement with Monticello Raceway to handle wagers on races during the track's winter meet, beginning next week.

Klaus Weber Is All-America

Klaus Weber, Ulster County Community College's brilliant halfback and Giuseppe Bruini, nationally placed three players on the first team and one on the second squad.

Weber is the second UCCC soccer player to achieve All-America rating in two years, under Coach George Vizvary, who enacted enthusiastically to the news of Weber's selection. "It's wonderful," said Vizvary

Monroe Community College of Rochester, N.Y. second ranked was a true team leader, an excellent student and a scholar ship material that coaches are always looking for.

Weber scored 16 points during the 1971 season with 10 goals and six assists.

"Weber had many strong points," Vizvary continued. "He was a total team leader who could take charge under real pressure." He noted that Weber scored key goals that ignited Ulster comebacks when trailing Dutchess 2-1 and Post Junior 2-0.

"He could saddle the ball, initiate an offensive drive and pick up the team when it lagged," Vizvary explained. "Scholastically, he was a coach's dream, ranging in the 3.6 to 3.7 classification.

The All-American selection completed a Triple Crown for Weber, who was previously named All Mid-Hudson Conference and All Region XV. Bruini of Orange was one of the most prolific junior college scorers in the country, with more than 40 goals to his credit.

Two other Region XV players made the first team — Michael Whalen of Westchester CCC as a back and Kazim Gungar of Staten Island as a forward.

Fernando Lopez of Staten Island and Douglas Wark of Mitchell College of New London, Conn., were named to the second team. Wark was a first team choice in 1970. John Serbetzian, the other Orange star, received honorable mention as a forward.

Six Black Players Boycott at Cornell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With its six black players boycotting the game, Cornell was easy prey Thursday night for undefeated Syracuse, which rolled to a 95-82 triumph. In other upstate New York college basketball action, Colgate defeated Lehigh, Army lost to Merrimack by one point, and Boston College crushed Canisius.

Syracuse guards Greg Kohls and Dennis DuVal combined for 58 points to pace the Orangemen to their victory over 2-2 Cornell. Kohls scored a career-record 37, most of them on long-range jump shots.

Six Cornell blacks—including co-captain Tom Sparks, top scorer Brian Wright and guard Jeff Howard—did not play because of differences with head coach Jerry Lane. The boycotting players reportedly contended that Cornell has an informal quota limiting the number of Negro players who may be on the court at one time.

Sophomore Lynn Loncki led Cornell with 24 points and 13 rebounds. Rick Amato added 19 points and hauled down 17 rebounds.

Colgate rolled up a 51-34 halftime edge and then coasted to the 102-91 victory over Lehigh, a scoring repeatedly on steals and Lehigh mistakes. Tom Cronin scored a career high of 28 and pulled down 24 points and 13 rebounds to pace the 2-2 Engineers, and Dick Zelickson's 25 points led Lehigh.

game's scoring with 25 points, while Mueller had 17 for Army. Boston College threw up a tight zone against Canisius and ran away to a 76-58 victory at Boston. Canisius rang up an early 17-9 lead, but Boston bounced back with 12 straight points and then went on to win. Dave Walker scored 19 points for Boston, which had a 51 percent shooting average from the field. Canisius' average was a much cooler 29.7.

Mercyhurst quickly overcame an early deficit and went on to trounce Elmira 82-62. Mercyhurst's 6-foot-6 center Steve Albert topped all scorers with his 28 points, while teammate J.C. Carter added 21. Pacing Elmira was Rufus Curtin, who tallied 14.

KLAUS WEBER

Army blew a 66-56 lead in the last four minutes Thursday night at West Point, with Merrimack ringing up 11 points and carrying off a 67-66 victory. Steve McMahon started Merrimack's comeback and then Phil McDonald scored seven consecutive points, cutting Army's lead to 66-65. Mike Tarr scored his only basket of the game to give Merrimack its winning edge.

Army had a chance to tie with one second left, but Doug Crewse missed a free throw and Ed Mueller's tap of the rebound rolled off the rim at the buzzer. McDonald led the

Mecom Explains Schwenk Ouster

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—New Orleans Saints General Manager Vic Schwenk wasn't fired because he didn't do a good job—but because of a "difference of philosophies" with owner John Mecom Jr., Mecom said Thursday.

"For the past several months there has been an increasing difference in philosophies involving management and the ownership regarding the operation of the Saints organization," Mecom said.

"Since the gap has been widening, it was felt that the damage was irreparable and there was no solution other than the course we have taken. We fully realize Mr. Schwenk's excellent abilities and feel certain that he will be an asset to any organization in pro football."

Mecom denied making any commitments to replace Schwenk with astronaut Dick Gordon, a close friend of the owner.

High School Cage Patterns Emerging

BY IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON The patterns are beginning to take hold in area high school basketball.

As play moves into its second week tonight the cream is already rising to the top and the lead is starting to slow agonizing drive to the bottom.

Seven contests on this evening's calendar should provide an even sharper view of the way the winter's going to be, Kingston, winless in its first two, will be away to meet a relatively weak Monticello team.

Saugerties, winners of two straight, opens the Dutchess County Scholastic League season at not-too-strong Arlington.

Meanwhile in the Ulster County Athletic League where the small schools hold an 8-2 edge in interdivision play, Coleman (2-0) hosts Onteora (0-1).

New Paltz (1-1) travels to Red Hook (1-1); Liberty (1-0) visits Marlboro (2-0); Wallkill (0-2) is at Highland (2-0); and Rondout (0-2) goes to Ellenville (1-1). Pine Bush has the night off.

A Slow Start How can Kingston's 0-2 start be described? Should it be with a look of surprise since the Maroons were 13-6 last year and had a good nucleus returning? Or perhaps with a nod of knowledge by those who felt losing Vito Platts and Herman Simon would be too much? Or maybe with a resigned smile by those who point to the absence of center Tony Adams with a shoulder injury? Or with a shrug by those who say it's still early?

Best bet would be to combine all the factors, roll them up, and toss them out on the floor. Kingston on paper should be doing better even without Adams. But Tony not being in the lineup certainly takes a lot away from both scoring and rebounding. And it is very early.

The Monticello game could be the instant answer. Adams won't play, but the Maroon five on Tuesday after blowing an 18-point lead was a better looking team than the one that lost to Lourdes a week ago.

Experience may be all due to an injured leg.

Now it's on to the DCSL, where Lourdes and Coleman are halfway towards their entire win total of a year ago and Coach Bill DuBois knows why.

"The kids are playing exceptional ball for this early in the season because they're getting to be a unit. They're close. It's very impressive to see the guys on the bench pulling for the rest of the team. We didn't have that last year."

The Statesmen also didn't have Phil Palladino, who scored 23 in the opening romp over Wallkill. They didn't have a John Geuss like the one they have this season. John's a year older and predictably better. And they didn't have the same kind of results from people like Mark Weber, Tim Mahoney, and Dan Mills as they are getting so far.

"I think they'll go even further as the season progresses," claims DuBois and to date he's been right more often than not.

The meeting against Onteora, defending UCAL champ, should be as interesting as always.

Last season the Statesmen handed Coach Ron Pape's Indians an overtime loss which reversed. Onteora dropped its first game Tuesday and has only one starter back, Dan Brown. But that doesn't make DuBois overly confident.

"Onteora-Coleman is a rivalry of sorts. No matter what kind of season each team is having the game can go either way. They are tall and well-coached, but inexperienced. I think it will be quite a game."

Around the League The night's most interesting battle should be in Red Hook where Coach Rod Chando's high scoring Raiders play their home opener against Coach Frank Davis' aggressive New Paltz.

At least Davis hopes his team is aggressive. The Huges were that and more during the first half against Highland the other night. Then they sat back and watched the Highlanders steal the ball game.

New Paltz is getting points from guard Rick Pesavento but not from center Jay Ackert from whom they need the help. Davis says Ackert, "is not selfish enough."

Red Hook has averaged better than 80 points a game and is only 1-1 since it met and lost to Liberty, the powerhouse, in the opener. Chando's team runs, presses, and scores. Dana Kilgore and Dan Thebere currently lead the attack.

Liberty gets back on the floor for the first time since that Red Hook win and will look to knock Marlboro out of the unbeaten ranks. The Indians are tall with speed and force. Joe Lewis and Joe Green are their chief ball hawks.

Marlboro is paced by guards George Salinovich and Charlie Jones.

Rondout is looking for its first win and might have a tough time finding it in Ellenville which boasts a good center in Tony Ware and top backcourtmen in Wayne Grey and Herm Santiago.

Coach Chick Meehan will undoubtedly hope for a defensive effort from his charges.

NFL Division Races Nearing Climax

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

With only two weeks left in the season, only one of the National Football League's six divisional races has ended.

That could change this week-end. There are direct confrontations between leaders in three of the five races. Only Cleveland, winner of the American Conference Central Baltimore Colts and the Minnesota Vikings play host to the Detroit Lions.

Two of the confrontations will take place Saturday when the Miami Dolphins take on the Baltimore, the host team, is 9-3.

The Dolphins seemingly had the race wrapped up a week ago but were upset by New England to set the stage for Saturday's encounter. The Colts are four-point favorites over Miami, which may be forced to play with quarterback Bob Griese, flanker Paul Warfield and running back Larry Csonka in sub-par condition.

Minnesota, which leads the NFC Central with a 9-3 mark, is favored by seven points over Detroit, second at 7-4-1. The Vikings, who have had problems scoring lately, have been winning with their defense.

Detroit quarterback Greg Landry suffered a concussion scoring a TD in last week's loss to Philadelphia but is expected to start.

The AFC Western title could be decided Sunday when Kansas City plays host to Oakland. Kansas City, a four-point favorite, took over the divisional lead with an 8-3 record last week by beating San Francisco after Oakland (7-3-2) had been upset by Atlanta.

The Chiefs are looking for their first division title since 1966. In other AFC action Sunday, the New York Jets are seven-point favorites over New England. San Diego is six over Denver, Cincinnati 10 over Pittsburgh and Houston and Buffalo are rated even in their battle to decide the No. 1 draft choice in February, an "honor" which probably will go to the loser.

Dallas, looking to wrap up the NFC East, is 13 over the New York Giants. San Francisco is six over Atlanta. Green Bay three over Chicago and Philadelphia three over St. Louis in other National Conference play. Cleveland and New Orleans are rated even in the inter-conference game Sunday while Los Angeles is six over Washington in Monday night's NFC clash.

Dallas, which erupted for 52 points against the Jets last week, looks to secure its second straight NFC East title while San Francisco and Atlanta are struggling to remain in contention in the NFC West.

Washington, looking for the wild card runner-up role in the NFC, and Los Angeles, clinging to the NFC West lead, meet in George Allen's return to Los Angeles. Allen was fired last season and took many of his players with him to Washington in experience-for-youth deals.

Start Ski Season At Catskill Center ANDES Catskill Ski Center will operate on a three-day weekend, Friday through Sunday, during the 1971-72 ski season, it was announced.

All lifts will be operating and the ski school and snack bar will be open. The entire operation is under the direction of Charles McIntosh and family, the new owners.

Feast of Lights Starts Sunday
KINGSTON
Jewish people over the world will begin their gay festival, Feast of Lights Sunday night with the lighting of the first Chanukah candle.
Chanukah, the Hebrew name of this festival, means dedication as it refers to the dedication of the Holy Temple in Jerusalem after its recapture from the hands of the Syrian Greeks by the anti-Hellenistic Jews.
In 165 BC, Judah Maccabeus drove the Syrians out of the country, entered Jerusalem as the hero of the Jewish people and cleansed the Holy Temple of the pagan gods and utensils imposed by the Hellenistic rulers. The temple was then dedicated amidst great joy and festivities and on the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, the Eternal Light was again burning in the Holy Temple.
The festival is celebrated as a Feast of Lights when candles are lighted for eight days, beginning with one on the first night and adding an additional one each night. The ritual commemorates the miracle which occurred in the Holy Temple at the time of recapture. Cruses of oil for the eternal light were customarily prepared with a day's need so that the lamp could be lighted every day.
However when the Syrians desecrated the temple they destroyed all the cruses of oil. When the temple was cleansed by Judah Maccabeus only one cruse of oil with one day's supply was found. This one cruse of oil burned for eight days making it possible for additional oil to be acquired for the lamp so that there should be no day without the light of the Eternal Lamp.
Chanukah is a joyous celebration especially for the children. Parties are held during which the symbolic food of pancakes or Latkes are eaten and gifts are distributed for eight days.
Lights are kindled with the saying of various blessings praising the Lord for the victory of the Maccabees and the miraculous events of that era. Special religious services are conducted by the children in the synagogues and parties are held in the Religious Schools and in the homes which are decorated with Chanukah motifs.
The three local congregations, Agudas Achim, Ahavath Israel and Temple Emanuel have planned parties and programs in connection with the festive holiday.
Rabbi Harry Z. Scheetman of Congregation Ahavath Israel will present the Chanukah story and traditions on local radio and television during the eight day period.

Broome Boy Dies From Heater Fumes

KIRKWOOD, N.Y. (AP) — A 9-year-old Broome County boy died Thursday after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes that leaked for four days from a faulty gas heater, deputy sheriffs reported.

Brian Jones was dead on arrival at Binghamton General Hospital. His parents, brother and grandmother were also overcome by the fumes. The brother, Jeffrey Jones, 13, was reported in fair condition in the same hospital.

Deputies reported that new cold-air ducts in the home were blocked and that the vacuum drew fumes from the chimney back into the house.

The father, Stanley Jones, told deputies the family had felt ill Sunday and told a physician.

Harold Hansen of the public education committee reviewed such issues as the anticipated effects of state aid cutbacks and the proposal to have the State Commissioner of Education elected instead of appointed.

James Flanagan, the group's representative, said the Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals meetings of the Town of Red Hook, asked that the association help retain local controls wherever possible and be vocal in stating its positions in relation to these topics.

He outlined a need for zoning to plan against disorganization.

RED HOOK in community development. Several proposals, primarily centered on planning and zoning, were the result of a public meeting of the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association meeting this week at the Red Hook Grange Hall.

Some committee appointments were: Elwood Miller, Donald Volk and Robert Tolman to membership; Charlotte Folkl and Thomas Espie to public relations.

Pat Valentine, a 23-year member of Highland Hose, has announced his candidacy for Highland Fire Commissioner.

Valentine served for five years as an officer of Highland Hose. He is married to the former Loretta Relyea; is the father of three children and an employee at IBM.

The election for fire commissioner will be held Tuesday night from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Town Hall in Highland.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

CAUTIOUS MALE: (comment) This is for the benefit of that girl who thinks boys are out for all they can get. I've dated many girls who are out for one thing—to get the boy in trouble so he has to marry her.

I hope more boys will realize this danger. A moment's pleasure is small consolation for a lifetime of being stuck with someone he doesn't love and will probably end up divorcing anyway.

I like girls who believe in women's liberation. To them marriage isn't the only alternative to failure. They have confidence in themselves as human beings who can stand on their own two feet, and so they behave like ladies, and I enjoy their company and will probably end up marrying one some day.—Becky Around in Kansas.

(A) It is good for guys to know how some girls feel. It is also good for girls to know how some guys feel.

"NOT PRETTY": (Q) I am not pretty. All the boys laugh at how ugly I am.

I found this one boy I really liked. I thought he liked me. But I just got a letter from him saying he only wanted to be friends and could not get serious with any girl.

Should I write to him and beg him to like me? I am too ugly to get another boy friend.—15 in Pennsylvania.

(A) Do not beg him or any boy to be friends with you. Instead be content with his liking you "just as a friend." If you try to make him like you, you will lose his friendship. If you accept him as he is, his friendship may grow.

Also, do not think of yourself as ugly and do not call yourself ugly. Do all you can to make yourself look the best you can and then accept yourself.

When you accept yourself, other people will accept you, and like you.

Como Special a Real Treat

NEW YORK (AP) — Perry Como isn't on television much any more, so it was a treat Thursday night to have him strolling around, grinning benignly and, best of all, singing in that nice easy style of his. "Perry Como's Winter Show" on NBC presented the singer in his happiest context: a holiday confection in which his particular chores were to sing a few songs in stage center and then sort of back off to enjoy the performances of his guests. The hour opened with a witty number, "I Can Almost Read Your Mind," whose lyrics posed—but never answered—all sorts of impertinent questions that ranged from Perry's age to the validity of guest star Mitzi Gaynor's blonde locks. Art Carney-like Perry and Mitzi an infrequent television visitor these days—joined in the entertainment, playing a couple of comedy sketches.

Most of his jokes were twisting the language like a Mr. Malaprop. The best sketch was one in which he portrayed a lunch wagon proprietor having a fight with his waitress, played by Miss Gaynor. High point of the hour was a production number that looked like a Currier and Ives Christmas card. "Appointment With Destiny," broadcast on CBS at the same time, was an ambitious effort to dramatize the 1944 attempt on Adolf Hitler's life. The story of the plot to kill the German leader by members of his general staff was told by means of World War II news reel clips, narration and dramatization using actors in the principal roles. It somehow failed to work, perhaps because it was a hybrid—neither documentary nor drama, but a bit of both. The subject matter was certainly dramatic. It was the real story, as narrator James Mason noted, of a plot to overthrow the Third Reich which failed because it was "inefficient and inept."

The program was meticulously researched. Wherever possible, archive films were used. The company of actors went through their paces, whenever possible, where the real events took place. But reconstituting history presents problems. Actors, even when supplied with Hitler mustaches and German accents, disturb and divert the viewer when they appear between news reels showing the persons they are imitating.

N. Ireland Ambush: Soldier, Man Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland homes on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The slayings raised killed one part-time soldier and the death toll in Ulster violence a man riding with him today on to 156 so far this year.

In Londonderry, spokesmen with the Irish Republic, the said at least eight gunmen, two soldiers and two bystanders were wounded in night-long of rioting and gun battles in battles between troops, rioters Londonderry that wounded at and soldiers in the Roman least 12 persons, including an elderly man and a 3-year-old girl.

The driver of the car caught in the ambush was identified as a member of the Ulster Defense Regiment (UDR). It was believed his passenger served in the same unit, the spokesman said. Both men were killed instantly.

Two other part-time soldiers were killed by gunmen in their streets and hurled at least snail bombs at troops trying to clear the area.

Snipers felled two soldiers with wounds and injured several others superficially with barrages of bricks, bottles, stones and bolts.

In this morning's ambush, a UDR officer said two gunmen halted the car driven by the men, then led them to the side of the road and shot them in the back at point blank range.

The incident occurred within miles of where the first part-time soldier was killed in August, he said.

"After the first two lads were shot this week, we did not want to say anything, but now there is no doubt whatsoever that a vendetta is being waged against the UDR," he said.

NATO Ministers in Agreement

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The United States and its European allies agreed today to keep up and strengthen their guard against the threat of Communist attack. They also agreed to start preparatory talks "as soon as possible" for the mammoth 35-nation conference on European security proposed by the Soviets early in 1972.

The agreement to do so was reached by foreign ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) member countries at the end of their annual pre-Christmas stock-taking meeting here.

NATO officials said they agreed the preliminary talks should be held in the Finnish capital of Helsinki between ambassadors of the United States, Canada and all European countries that intend to take part in the security conference.

Their aim was to produce a communique by tonight reflecting broad agreement on all major issues facing NATO.

On the military side, NATO sources said, the communique will state:

—President Nixon has renewed his pledge of a year ago to maintain U.S. forces in Europe at their present strength of 310,000 unless there are reciprocal cuts by the Soviets. He has promised that the United States' partnership, support and defense of Western Europe are and will remain undiminished.

—The European NATO member countries have promised to boost their defense spending by program to take over part of $1 billion in 1972 as part of a program to take over part of their own defense load from the United States.

Officials said the communique will detail the steps planned by European NATO countries to step up their own defense preparedness.

President Nixon's renewed pledge to Europe was given in a message read to the NATO ministers Thursday by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Resolution by Africa

Israel Requests UN Rejection

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban goes before the General Assembly today to reject an African resolution which in effect calls for Israel to pledge withdrawal from occupied Egyptian territory.

The Soviet Union meanwhile accused Communist China and the United States of blocking peace in the Middle East.

The African resolution, drafted with Egyptian participation, calls for a reactivation of the special U.N. peace mission of Gunnar Jarring, who last February asked Israel to couple a pledge of troop withdrawal with an Egyptian pledge to reach a peace agreement. Israel refused.

Eban notified assembly aides he would reply to the African proposal today, and an Israeli spokesman told newsmen the resolution was "unacceptable as a basis for resuming the Jarring talks." He said it differed in "letter and spirit" from a proposal made by four African heads of state who recently visited Egypt and Israel.

"The original African memorandum would unblock the Jarring negotiation," the spokesman said. "This resolution would perpetuate the 10-month deadlock which is the opposite of what the African mission desired to do."

Israeli sources charged that Egyptian pressure prevented Eban earlier in the debate the report from reaching the General Assembly. They said it called for renewal of the Jarring mission without prior conditions, negotiations between Egypt and Israel and withdrawal from Egyptian territory as part of a final settlement.

They said the report differed from the Egyptian position by linking withdrawal and final settlement together. The Egyptians insist that withdrawal must precede a settlement.

Eban earlier in the debate said the Israelis would negotiate only without prior conditions, and he said revival of Jarring's February proposal would constitute such an unacceptable condition.

In the debate Thursday, Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik charged that the United States has refused to resume the consultations on the Middle East which the Soviet, American, British and French U.N. delegates began two years ago, and that Communist China's delegate has refused to participate.

"We don't know whether they had any deal or agreement between them," Malik said, insinuating that they did.

Viet Cong Down Two U.S. 'Copters

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong shot down two American helicopters in the Mekong Delta Thursday, then opened fire on a group of other choppers trying to rescue the downed crewmen. Two U.S. GIs were killed and seven wounded.

In addition a big Chinook cargo helicopter was shot down in Cambodia.

Military spokesmen also said a U.S. F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber fired missiles against a North Vietnamese anti-aircraft site today after the Communist battery fired at the American plane. It was the 89th such "protective reaction" strike into North Vietnam this year.

Communiques from Phnom Penh in neighboring Cambodia said Premier Lon Nol went on nationwide radio to appeal to the people for confidence in the armed forces "despite some setbacks" including the recent defeat at the hands of North Vietnamese troops on Highway 6.

The series of downings of helicopters in Vietnam began when an observation chopper was hit over the U Minh Forest in the Mekong Delta Thursday and crashed, wounding both crewmen. Another chopper picked up both injured men but two of the rescue helicopter's crewmen were injured when the Viet Cong opened fire.

A third helicopter arrived and was shot down and both crewmen were killed. Two more 'copters which tried to recover the downed crewmen were wounded.

Altogether, two Americans were killed and seven wounded in 15 minutes, the U.S. command said.

A huge twin-rotor CH47 Chinook cargo helicopter was shot down Thursday in Cambodia while supporting the ment said the nearby town of Am Lok already had fallen.

Lon Nol said 322 Cambodian troops had been killed and 1,677 wounded in four months of fighting in the Highway 6 campaign, with more than 6,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead.

As the ailing prime minister spoke on national radio, the military command announced that the Cambodian government's last northern outpost on Highway 6 at Santuk had come under "intense attack" from the Communists. The announcement said the nearby town of Am Lok already had fallen.

Lon Nol said 322 Cambodian troops had been killed and 1,677 wounded in four months of fighting in the Highway 6 campaign, with more than 6,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead.
